TCL is a family run business with values that place our customers and staff at the very heart of everything we do. We adopt the principle of 'putting the handshake' back into building, where openness, integrity and the strong sense of principle are threaded throughout the company's activities.

Our business focus continues to be solely in the delivery of refurbishment and maintenance based projects where we have honed our skills, delivering a range of projects within challenging environments and multi cultural communities.

We put the needs of our customers first for every project and we strive to shape our service based upon their requirements and satisfaction.

Working with our Customers and Communities

As an organisation TCL's commitment to providing long-term valued community benefits goes beyond providing excellent products and services. For us it's more than just about ticking boxes. Whether it is the introduction of long-term employment opportunities for local people, sub-contracting opportunities for small businesses or the softer but equally important benefit of engagements with community groups, all of these elements are hard-wired into TCL's social value ethos.

For us it is about creating a legacy of sustainable benefits. Not making it an added or additional value, but making it part of every aspect of our service and delivery.
